

DEATH OF MR. D. WANSBROUGH.

A VERY OLD COLONIST.

We have to record the death, early this morning, of Mr. D. Wansbrough, who was one of the colony's earliest and most worthy settlers. Mr. Wansbrough arrived here, with his wife (who pre-deceased him several years), in the first year of the colony's settlement. At the time of his death, which took place at his late residence in Murray-street, Mr. Wansbrough had attained the ripe age of 88.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon, the arrangements being in the hands of Mr. D. J. Chipper.
