

Wedding

BRENNAN—LORD.

On August 24 a pretty wedding was celebrated at Goomalling, the contracting parties being Mr. Thomas Brennan, of Goomalling, and Miss Rose Emily Lord, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Lord, of Goomalling. The Rev. Father O'Donnell officiated. The bride was given away by her cousin, Mr. W. Quinlan, and looked charming in a dainty white embroidered muslin dress. The bridesmaids were Misses Susie O'Neill, who wore a pretty dress of pale heliotrope, and Miss Annie Lord, who was attired in a dainty dress of flowered voile with hat to match. Mr. Martin O'Neill carried out the duties of best man. At the conclusion of the ceremony the bridal party drove to the home of the bride's parents, where the wedding breakfast was held, there being over sixty guests present, and the usual toasts honored. Many handsome and useful presents were received. The bridegroom's present to the bridesmaids were pretty gold brooches.
