

Wedding Bells.

MILLS—FORWARD.

A very pretty wedding was celebrated at St. John's Church on Wednesday afternoon, the contracting parties being Charles Anthony Herbert, youngest son of Mr. William Mills, of Adelaide, South Australia, and Maud Millicent, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs William Forward, of "Riverlea," Northam.

The service, which was full choral, was conducted by the Rev. A. L. Marshall, assisted by the Rev. J. P. Davoren, Mrs. Marshall presiding at the organ.

The church was very prettily decorated by the friends of the bride, and the seating accommodation was severely taxed long before the time appointed for the ceremony.

The bride, who was given away by her father, looked very nice in her bridal dress of white crepe de chene relieved with lace and a touch of fur. She wore the usual wreath and veil, and carried a beautiful bouquet of tuber roses and maiden-hair fern, the gift of the bridegroom. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Olive Leeder, of Toodyay, as bridesmaid, and three little maids of honor, her nieces, Barbara Morrell, Edna and Peggy Forward, Miss Leeder's dress was of pale blue crepe de chene, relieved with lace and a touch of pink a black velvet hat with pale blue plumes. She carried a very nice bouquet of pink roses. The three little girls wore dainty white silk frocks and colored sashes, and each carried a basket of roses. The bride wore a beautiful cameo bracelet, the bridesmaid a gold flexible bangle, and the three little maids gold brooches, the gifts of the gold brooches, the gifts of the bridegroom. The bridegroom was attended by Mr Hardy as best man.

After the ceremony a reception was held at Riverlea, the residence of the bride's parents, where the relatives and intimate friends met to congratulate and wish future happiness to Mr and Mrs Mills. The happy couple motored to Spencer's Brook, and caught the evening train for Perth.

The bride travelled in a very smart coat and skirt of tweed, a black velvet hat and white plumes.

The happy couple were the recipients of a very large number of handsome and useful presents.
