

Wedding Bells

MUIR-BYFIELD.

On Tuesday, 28th September, at the Methodist Church, Duke-street, Northam, the marriage of Miss Olive Byfield, daughter of Mrs. Byfield and the late Mr. James Byfield, and Mr. Roy Muir, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs Muir, of Wagin, was quietly solemnised by the Rev. G. McLaren. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Alf. Byfield, and looked charming in a gown of ivory crepe de chene over Jap. silk. The blouse was made magyar effect, with rose-point vest and medici collar, outlined with hemstitching. The skirt displayed the new and fashionable cordings, finished with sprays of orange blossom. The train, suspended from the waist, consisted of charming rose-point lace, lined with most delicate shade of shell pink ninon, garnished with bows of tulle and orange blossom. The veil, arranged mob cap fashion, was held in place with posies of orange blossom and fell softly over the face. The bouquet of choice white flowers, tied with shell-pink streamers, was the gift of Mrs. A. W. Byfield (sister-in-law of the bride). The bride wore a beautiful cameo brooch, set with seed pearls, the gift of the bridegroom. The bridesmaids were Miss Elsie Muir (sister of the bridegroom), and Miss Greta Byfield (niece of bride). The former wore white crepe de chine, lace vest and medici collar, the blouse being hemstitched and threaded with black bebe velvet ribbon, also a dainty hat of black aeroplane pink roses, and blue streamers, while the latter was attired in blue crepe de chine and a pretty white hat, trimmed with pink roses, and finished with black velvet streamers. Miss Belle Gladstone (niece of the bride) wore a delicate shell pink crepe cloth, trimmed with blonde lace and pink buttons; hat of white tulle, wreathed with pink daisies. They wore the with pink daisies. They wore the bridegroom's gifts, pink cameo brooches and carried early Victorian posies of pink sweet peas and blue forget-me-nots. The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Mr. F. Muir, whilst Mr. Harold Byfield (nephew of the bride) acted as groomsman. The reception (to only immediate relations of bride and bridegroom), was held at "Westview," the residence of the bride's mother, who received the guests and was attired in a handsome black gown, hat en suite, and carried a posy of violets. The happy couple left for Perth on the afternoon train, the bride travelling in a handsome frock of navy crepe de chine, hat to match.

Among the many handsome presents received was a silver egg cruet, presented to the bride by members of the Wesley Choir, and a set of Doulton plates, given by children of the Wesley Band of Hope.
