

A Wedding.

A very pretty wedding took place at St. Patrick's Church, Irishtown, on Feb. 2nd, when Miss Ellie White, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. White, of Yarramongy, was united in holy matrimony to Mr. Richard Leeson, of Daudabin, by the Rev. Father O'Reilly. The ceremony was witnessed by a large number of friends of the contracting parties. The bride's dress was of cream serge, trimmed with lace and chiffon, sprays of orange blossom, wreath and veil, with a bunch of white flowers as a bouquet, and was accompanied by two bridesmaidens, Miss Lynch, of Newcastle (niece of the bride), who wore a pretty heliotrope crepon with cream lace, and Miss Maria Leeson (sister of the bridegroom), who was attired in dainty pink muslin with cream lace and silk front to match. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. W. White, while Mr. P. White, brother of the bride, and Mr. P. Lynch acted as groomsmen. At the conclusion of the ceremony, as the bridal party came down the aisle of the church, the wedding march was played by Miss Eva Bourke. The happy couple and party, amidst a shower of rice, drove to the residence of the bride's mother at Yarramongy, where a sumptuous breakfast awaited their return. The Rev. Father O'Reilly occupied the chair, and in a very neat and appropriate speech proposed "the Bride and Bridegroom," which was responded to by Mr. R. Leeson, who thanked the guests for their presence, and Father O'Reilly for the kind words which he had said about himself and wife. Mr. P. White briefly responded on behalf of the Bridesmaids. Mr. W. T. Leeson gave "The Parents of the Bride," and in doing so spoke in the highest terms of Mrs. White. Mr. E. Campbell then proposed "The Chairman," the Rev. Father O'Reilly, who suitably responded. The company then rose and at about 4 p.m. the bride and groom, accompanied by several conveyances, proceeded to Northam to leave by the train for Perth, and thence to Bunbury, where the honeymoon will be spent. The bride's travelling dress was of fawn colour lustre, with full front and zouave of cream silk edged with gold gimp, and fawn hat with trimmings to match. The wedding presents were both numerous and costly.
